NEWSPAPERS

iweekend

Dear Retail Colleague

We are writing to inform you that from the 14th September 2019, iweekend will increase in price by 20p from £1.00 to £1.20. Retail terms will remain at 21.5%, so profit on every copy sold will increase from 21.5p to 25.8p. Readers will notice a stronger 'weekend' feel to their newspaper with additional focus on relaxation and indulgence and at £1.20 iweekend remains great value. Over the coming weeks, iweekend will be supported by a multi-channel publicity campaign promoting our "Weekends Covered" message.

Please use this opportunity to increase your profits by displaying iweekend prominently in your store. Also, please remember iweekend is a weekend proposition and therefore remains on sale throughout Sunday too.

We will be holding subscription prices at current levels until 31st October 2019 so subscribers will be getting a 33% saving rather than the usual 30%. Your customers will find further details printed in i and iweekend.

New iweekend Barcode:

EAN	Price	Start Date
9772045492065	£1.20	14/09/2019

Subscription Vouchers:

EAN	Previous Value	New Value	Expiry Date
9914316630008	£1.00	£1.20	31/12/2020

As ever, we are grateful for your continued support and recognise the role you've played in making i and iweekend the success story they've become.

Telegraph Subscription Vouchers

We have been advised that a small number of Telegraph 6 day subscriber booklets have been printed on the 7 day subscriber voucher stationery. As a result the Sunday Telegraph voucher will be blank. No issue date / barcode or subscriber details will be printed as per example below.

Please take extra care when accepting these vouchers from your consumers as any blank Sunday Telegraph vouchers submitted for credit, will be rejected as this is not a valid voucher and will be destroyed after processing.
